Rattigan, under the head of Butier items, has been reflecting quite severely on the members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and those who are identified with the prohibition or temperance element in this county. Last week seven coach loads of the temperance people, among whom were some prominent and influential citizens, visited Koester's park, at Slippery Rockey and spent the day very pleasantly. An article appeared in the Herald's Saturday edition giving a very uncomplimentary description of the people composing the party, and although dated Butler, it is claimed as Kattigan's production. The ladies were particularly selected as targets, and yesterday evening, just prior to the closing of the post office, twelve or fitteen women, armed with whips, planted themselves near the entrance and awaited their victim's appearance. As soon as Rattigan stepped outside of the door they began belaboring him, and only desisted through exhaustion. Rattigan quietly stood it and offered no resistance. Fire on a French Steamer. THE FLAMES EXTINGUISHED AFTER SHE HAD NEW YORK, July 28.—When the French steamer Labrador, from Havre, came to anchor at quarantine at 3:15 a, m, an officer rushed excitedly to the bridge and notified the captain that the steamer was a mass of flames below. On consultation with Pilot Wilson it was deemed best to run the ship ashore, which was done on the Long Island shore below Bay Ridge. No cause was given for the fire. Assistance was promptly at hand and the passengers transferred to a passing steamboat. Tugs also went alongside and poured several streams of water down into the hold. At 7:30 a. m. the fire was got under control and soon extinguished. The steamer will have to discharge her cargo before getting off, as she lies well up, having been run ashore on the failing tide about 6 a. m. The passengers left for the city at about 8 o'clock on the steamboat William Fletcher. It is supposed that the fire originated in the drying room.

The Labrador was discovered to be on fire in the laundry room while she was steaming up the bay past quarantine. The passengers were aroused and were taken off by the company's launch, the Fletcher, together with their bag-gage, and the Labrador was beached off Owl's Head, from where she will be taken to her dock at high water about 5 o'clock this afternoon, The damage was confined to the officers' rooms and will be repaired at a cost not exceeding
